ASH

Simone! How was badminton?

SIMONE

Badminton? What do you me-- oh! Yes!
Badminton! It was good, thanks.
Really good game. Love badminton, me.
Played with... uh... K... Karl. You don't him. Great player.

ASH

Simone, I spoke to the guest in the nurse's outfit...

SIMONE

Oh yeah?

ASH

Yeah. She said on the night Ralph went missing, she was on the 10 o'clock Spooky Nights Trail tour, and she got left beh--

SIMONE

(hysteria) OK fine! I admit it! I did a bad thing! Mea culpa! Is that what you want to hear?? I left a guest in the woods! It was an accident!

ASH

What happened?

SIMONE

I don't know! I screwed up!
I'm supposed to do a guest headcount when we exit the woods, and I just forgot. I didn't realise she was gone until I was giving the final speech outside Dreamland.

ASH
What did you do?

SIMONE
I went back to look for her. I know,
I know, I should've radio-ed management...

ASH
But you didn't want to get in trouble.

SIMONE
I thought I could just sort it out myself. I thought, 'I just need to find her, no-one needs to know.' So I unlocked the gate and went back in.

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

SIMONE (cont'd)
I spent, like, twenty minutes calling for her... quietly, because I knew Ralph would be re-setting props and I didn't want him to know.

ASH
Simone! He would've helped you look.

SIMONE
I was embarrassed, OK?

ASH
Did you find her?

SIMONE
No. But I didn't need to in the end.
I was about to give up and radio for help when I heard Ralph's voice. It was too far away to hear what he was saying, but I assumed he'd found the nurse so I thought, 'well, it's too late now, he knows, I might as well join them and 'fess up'...but then I heard the clang of the gate--

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

ASH
Which gate?

SIMONE

The one on the Roswell side. I think?
I thought Ralph must've taken her out of the woods. So I just... left.

ASH

You didn't radio him to check?

SIMONE

No. I know, I know! But I was already late for the final tour of the night.
I had to get back to the train.
Ohhh, I should've checked! And now
Ralph is missing, and I was right there. Whatever happened, I could've stopped it, if I'd just... I dunno...

ASH

It's OK, Simone. It's OK. But you need to tell management what you told me. You can't keep this a secret.

SIMONE

I already told Davina.

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

ASH

You did?? When??

SIMONE

Couple of hours ago. I couldn't take the guilt. And I need to know what happened! Where is he?? Who was he talking to? Who went through the gate??
Ash, maybe if we worked together, we can find out what happened. Let me help. Please?

ASH

I dunno, Simone.

SIMONE

Why not? Do you think I had something to do with it?

ASH

No. Yeah, no, I...
I need to think.

SENORE ANTONIO

My name is Antonio, but you may call me... Senore Antonio. I am a security guard. I cover the whole park. You want to know about last night? A very typical evening, yes. Lots of screaming.

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

A flashlight lost to Mr Leaf. A glove incident. Three tickets to Ouchyville. And you know, when everyone is covered in fake blood, is very hard to see what is an emergency and what isn't.

Ah, I can tell you some red-hot park gossip if you like? Senore Antonio sees everything, eh? Heh heh. For instance... every night, the sexy alien lady dumps her tray in the bushes and rides the rollercoasters.

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

Again and again. I do not tell anyone because I was not put on this earth to ruin anyone's fun. Except for the people I throw out of the park, of course.

More hot gossip: have you seen the guest who comes alone to the park every night dressed as a sexy nurse? I think I know why she comes so much... she is in love! Not with one person, but with two!

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

The sexy manager who is very worried all the time, and the tall sexy manager with the great teeth. I have seen the sexy nurse follow them round the park many times! Very sexy! And a little sinister, eh.

SIMON
Is this recording? Oh! Sorry, was that a bit close?
Hello Ash. You know me as daddy, haha, but my real name is Simon, as you know.

DISTANT STOMACH GURGLE.

SIMON (cont'd)
Did you hear that? My stomach's not right yet. Here, give me your tape recorder. Listen to this.

STOMACH GURGLES.

SIMON (cont'd)
Grog might have to replace me again tonight. He won't like that; Davina had to force him to step in last time.

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

I think it's because he can do what he wants as a peripatetic; he can have as many breaks as he pleases. No supervision.

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

INT. SPOOKY NIGHTS DISCO

STEIFON

Steifon Passmore, podium dancer at the Spooky Nights Disco.

SEFFIE

Seffie, same.

HEATHER

Heather. Same.

SEFFIE

We work Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, and half-price nights. Whenever it's busy, basically. But we only ever see the inside of the disco, so... I doubt we can help.

STEIFON

Can't believe someone's gone missing in the woods and they haven't told the police yet.

HEATHER

Yeah, that's shocking. There's something wrong with this place.

STEIFON

You guys have heard about the murders, right? Someone got murdered right here, where we're standing, ten years ago today.

SEFFIE

(shivers) Can't believe I'm dancing in hotpants over someone's grave.

STEIFON

Don't think they buried them here, Seffie.

SEFFIE

No, but they don't need to have buried 'em for it to be haunted.

HEATHER

I wouldn't worry. The music will scare any ghosts away. Oh my goodness, those DJs are dreadful.

SEFFIE

Yeah, and they NEVER take their masks off, have you noticed?

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

STEIFON

I actually asked one of them about that? Yeah. I spoke to the one who works on Fridays.

SEFFIE

Really? I have literally never heard him speak. He's really shy.

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

STEIFON

Yeah, he never talks to us. But I basically cornered him. So he said when he's inside Dreamland, he has to remain in costume at all times cos it looks more 'professional'.

SEFFIE

Pbbt! If he was 'professional', he'd pay more attention to what he's playing. Last night, we had to dance to five of the same songs twice.

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

HEATHER

I think he must've downed a load of shots when he went on break and forgotten which songs he'd already played. He just doesn't care about his job. He barely moves when he's DJ-ing. Not so much as a wiggle! Absolutely no rhythm, no soul, no music in that man's veins.

SEFFIE

It was awful. No-one should have to dance to a trance remix of the Monster Mash more than once.

JESS

My name's Jessica Davenport. Call me Jess. I run the Gunga Din-Dins sound and light show on the Spooky Trail. Have you seen it? Most of the restaurant's closed to the public, except for the foyer -

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

JESS (cont'd)

- that's where the magic happens. The conductor brings the guests into the foyer and then 'BANG!' The door slams shut behind them and the lights go out! And then a spotlight - BAM - on me and my humble market stall! I play a mysterious woman selling potions and l'objets mysterieux. Every time I point to, say, a bottle or a cursed necklace or a curly shoe, I secretly press a lever with my foot and the objet lights up and everyone's like 'oooh! Ahh!'. And for the finale, it's audience participation time. I get someone to rub me lamp and a pre-recorded voice booms 'who disturbs my sleep!' and there's smoke and lights, and the voice goes, 'begone from this place!' and the doops slam open and the Conductor is like, 'quick! Everybody out!' and they all run outside! Sorry, that's not what you asked, is it? No, I didn't see anything weird last night. Who's Ralph again? Oh wait, no, there was something strange. I was skipped. I only did five scenes!

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

JESS (cont'd)

No explanation why.

EXT. VILLAGE

ERICH

Erich Michaels. I am a warlock, and I assist the three wyrd sisters of the Macbeth experience. Normal night last night... except for the cleaner having a right go at me! Silly little berk.

We finished our scene and the Conductor was guiding the tour away when he comes storming up to us.

"Where is it then?" he says, "I've been looking all over the Village for the last ten minutes and I can't see anything!" And we're like "see what?? What are you talking about?" and he's like "someone radio-ed about a smooth yoghurt incident in multiple spots around the Village."

On the screen, the word 'CLUE' appears, accompanied by an ominous musical sting.

And we were like, "blimey, is there?" And he's going on and on - you know how much he talks - and he was like, "Who's the team leader! Let me talk to the team leader!"

So apparently someone pretending to be our team leader radio-ed in a report that a guest was really drunk and was staggering around the Village exploding everywhere. The cleaner's going "they said it's all over the wishing well, in front of the Inn, by the toilet block... but I get here and I can't see anything at all! Is this a joke?? Is this a prank??" And I was like, "dunno, mate, let's go look, shall we?"

So me and this little twerp go round the Village together and ... there's nothing. One of the guests pushed a bin over so he stayed to clean that up, but otherwise... it was a prank, I guess. Weird.
